Are you having trouble with stairs but worry that regular stairlifts don't fit your needs? Say hello to the Bruno Elite Curved stairlift - a home mobility game-changer designed for all users. Many traditional stairlifts have a weight limit of around 25 stone, leaving some people out. The Bruno Elite Curved changes this with its impressive weight capacity of 30 stone (190 kg). It's a comfortable ride too, with a spacious padded seat and adjustable armrests and footrest height. Custom-crafted to fit your curved staircase perfectly, it offers a smooth and stable ride from start to finish. While it has a higher weight capacity than most stairlifts, it might not be suitable for larger users with narrow staircases. Safety is key, and the Bruno Elite Curved comes with a retractable seat belt and safety sensors, plus an optional powered swivel seat for extra help getting on and off. It's a more affordable and less invasive solution compared to through-floor home lifts, allowing you to keep your home while regaining access to all its levels. If you're over 30 stone, you might need a through-floor home lift, but discussing your needs with a mobility expert can reveal other solutions. The Bruno Elite Curved stairlift typically starts from £6,000, including installation costs, and there are optional extras available depending on your specific requirements. The Bruno Elite Features: * Adjustable seat height * Adjustable footrest height * Adjustable armrests extending up to 110mm (450-560mm) * Soft start and soft stop * Manual swivel chair at top landing * Manual swivel chair at bottom landing (except for the Outdoor models) * Two remote call/send controls * Retractable seat belt with buckle * Easy-to-use control switch * On-board visual diagnostics * On-board audio diagnostics * Folding footrest, armrests, and chair * Safety sensors on footplate and carriage * Powered by two 12-volt batteries * Rated user weight capacity: 190kg/30st Optional features: * Manual folding rail * Powered folding rail * Slim-line, upright rail profile * Anodized aluminium rail (except for the Outdoor models) * Self-locking worm gear, rack and pinion drive * Optional powered seat swivel function* * Optional powered folding footrest * Optional extra large seat, dimensions fixed at 584mm * Optional toggle switch * Continuous charging along the rail (only on some models) * Charging on hinge section (only on some models) The main difference between the Bruno Elite and the Bruno Elan stairlift is that the Elite offers more comfort features, such as a wider seat and increased weight limit. The Bruno Elan is designed specifically for straight staircases only and cannot be installed on curved or spiral staircases. Don't let stairs hold you back any longer! The Bruno Elite Curved stairlift isn't just a mobility aid - it's a ticket to independence. With its higher weight capacity, spacious seating, and custom-fit design, it's opening doors (and stairs!) for people who thought a stairlift was beyond their reach. Ready to reclaim your home? The curved stairlift from Bruno is designed for outdoor use and provides a smooth ride while withstanding harsh weather conditions. It supports weights up to 190 kg (30 st) and starts at £10,000 when fitted. This model is suitable for curved outdoor staircases and offers several standard features, including power swivel seats, retractable seatbelts, obstruction sensors, and armrest controls. These features enhance safety, comfort, and convenience. Not all stairlifts come with the same features, but Bruno stands out by offering unique features such as vertical rail design for straight stairlifts, which saves space by allowing the rail to be installed closer to the wall, and offset rail design for curved stairlifts, providing more space for users' knees and legs. Continuous charging is another feature available on some indoor straight stairlifts, ensuring the stairlift remains charged during power outages. Choosing a Bruno stairlift depends on individual needs, including the type of staircase, budget, and desired features. For heavy-duty options or specialized solutions, other brands like Thyssenkrupp (now TKE Home Solutions) may be worth exploring. Discussing options with a Bruno dealer can help find the perfect stair lift. Bruno stairlifts have received high praise in reviews, earning the title of "best stairlift brand" by the National Council on Aging (NCOA) with a 4.9 out of 5 rating. ConsumerAffairs has also recognized Bruno as a three-time award winner for Best Customer Service, Best Experience with Staff, and Best for Installation. While UK-specific reviews are limited, international feedback suggests that Bruno prioritizes quality and customer satisfaction. The pros of Bruno stairlifts include their durability, low maintenance needs, and meeting tough safety standards (ISO 9001, EN 81-40, and BS 5776). They also excel in customer service, offering a lifetime warranty on major components for the Elan model and a five-year parts warranty for the Elite models. The stairlifts are easy to use and install, with intuitive controls and smooth operation making them accessible to all. Safety features are also prioritized, with features designed to protect users. Bruno stairlifts focus on user comfort and maximising space, featuring obstruction sensors, seat belts, and soft start/stop mechanisms. They offer customisation options to cater to unique users and staircases, including different seat styles, upholstery colours, and features like power swivel seats and folding rails. Some users report noise with the Elan model, but proper installation and maintenance can resolve this issue. The quality of customer service and after-sales support varies depending on the dealer, which may impact the brand reputation. Bruno stairlifts are also pricier than some competitors, requiring careful consideration of benefits versus cost. Bruno stairlifts receive glowing feedback for their durability (10-15 year lifespan), smooth operation, quiet performance, and space-saving features. Users appreciate the customisation options, ease of use, and positive dealer experiences. The brand is built to last, with many users reporting years of trouble-free use. UK customers praise Bruno stairlifts for their reliability, sturdiness, and user-friendly controls. They value the space-saving features, quiet operation, and customisation options available. While some dealers may vary in quality, overall feedback suggests a positive reputation among UK customers. Bruno stairlifts offer high-quality solutions through a network of authorized UK dealers, providing sales, installation, and support services. These services include free home surveys to assess your staircase needs, professional installations by trained technicians, maintenance and repairs, and warranties on major parts. Some dealers may also offer buy-back programs for financial relief and upgrading to new models. To find the right dealer and stairlift, consider factors such as reputation, stairlift type, features, budget, and installation services. For a smooth experience, engage a qualified technician or use our service to connect you with trusted Bruno stairlift dealers in your UK location. Bruno stairlifts are considered one of the top brands in 2023, praised by customers for their reliability and durability. The cost of Bruno stairlifts varies greatly, ranging from £2,000 for straight models like Elan to over £6,000 for curved models such as Elite. Installation complexities, features, and model type all impact the final price. Bruno stair lifts are built to last with proper maintenance, extending their lifespan up to 10-15 years or more. Regular servicing and prompt repairs ensure safe and reliable access to homes. Lifespan can vary depending on model, usage, and user weight.
