Sometimes it is not possible, however, and discarded partners are often left devastated, both financially. Why of narcissists discard people? Narcissists get tired very easily. Initially, they are intoxicated by the persecution and the conquest of a new partner, and they are prone to the magic thinking and idealization, which means that they often believe all their problems can be solved by "the right person." You have nothing to do with you or how great you are, however. Your goals are all selfish. They are not looking for a partnership or trying to build a life with someone or anything of the type. They are looking for a person who will do things - exclusively for them. This is, of course, is not reasonable or possible, or realistic in any way. No one can fix someone else. Dating or marrying someone does not make a psychological distance leave. He does not magically erase the past or transform a person into another person. Of course, the narcissist is in the total refusal of any of these problems, first. They simply believe that the problem has always been the other person or people in their lives. In fact, the "line", they usually use to connect a new vitima is with a history bait after the story in themselves as victims of the terrible cruelty, indifference and malice in the hands of significant previous narcissists other. This person is seen, first, like Perfect. Unfortunately, no one really is perfect, and expectations and goals of the narcissist are totally irrational and completely irrational, in addition to. When this new soul girm reveals that they are nothing more than a normal person with failures and problems and deficiencies and - worse of all - needs, the narcissist often becomes disillusioned and disappointed. This person is a failure and a liar and a fraud. How do you dare to misrepresent yourself as perfect ?! You cheated the narcissist! This is the place where the devaluation Starts. You've has betroved the narcissist for not being perfect, for being nothing more than a normal human being and do not deceived them, then they are in your right to overthrow you on Thathà ¢ and everything else. And they go. You should take care of each of the needs and desires of the narcissist, but you did not do it because you are obviously a bad, ego, insensitive monster that does not care about others.narcissists see needsà ¢ BÃ SICA from other people as a direct threat to their own. How can such a selfcentered, planning to be your ideal partner? Worse, do you really expect things from them!? How doggy can you possibly be ?? This is not the relationship the narcissist thought it was, you are not as you thought you were, and instead of realizing that your perception of people, as well as your ideas About what the relationships are totally wrong and distorted in addition to the recognition, they blame it. The Interface £ narcissist uses other humans to this human detriment. They cause damage, in other words. As a tênia. NÃ £ o matter how much you eat when you have a tÃ^ania, it still estÃ; always exhausted because tÃ^ania is receiving the most part. When tÃ^ania becomes very powerful, You start to literally hunger. As a narcissist rule and ends a relationship to develop the partner, which can take many forms such as Gas gas, insulting, humiliating, campaigning, disappearing and cutting the phasic abuse and much more, the narcissist often simply discards his victim and go away. Nà £ o-Only they were placed atravà © s emotional squeeze without reason, they were guilty and that they are wrong, erect and bad for just having feelings, feelings, and failures. This can be very harmful. Narcissists put a negative connotion about everything the victim says, think and do, consequently, come with the idea that even having normal feelings or engaging in normal, activities every day is selfish and somehow abusive or wrong. Add to this the fact that the narcissist simply lifted and left, essentially abandoning the victim, and this lets people at a very fragile state. Which is clear, exactly where the narcissist wants them. People who are in this State will be receptive owes the narcissistic need to return if your new perfect vitimate does not work. Often people feel that "won" in this situation, if the narcissistic returns, but in reality the and abandoned. This is painful, but it must also be liberating, because it means that you did nothing wrong, and because nothing has been truly lost except for possibly time. There is nothing wrong with you. There is something very, very wrong with them. It does not matter what, narcissists are arrested with the person they really hate more: themselves. This is the worst punishment as possible. This sounds banal and unsatisfactory, but certainty, it is not. These people are absolutely eaten with pathological, delirious self-dike. It is a painful cachin within them. They're not getting away with anything. They are miserable people, envious that they will never be. In many ways, narcissists suffer more than anyone else, even must be, perfectly honest. They are not suffering on behalf of their votes, but will it really matter if you got far away? When the narcissist do not leave. These are usually relationships that seem to stay in the (abusive) devaluation part of the cycle most of the time, and the reasons of the narcissist to stay often seems to be a constant power struggle, where the narcissist does not get tired, because they have not conquered and still defeated the partner, or a situation where the narcissist has so completely dominated and conquered and still defeated the partner. I certainly dated a man and my ex discovered. My ex started spreading false gossip on me, saying that I was obeyed with him, this new guy would never position him again and that I was just using the guy to put him back. Her sister and he had the hip, she is your mouthpiece to spread the gossip. I finally had to threaten the legal action to stop the year's asset. These people are sick and can be stalkerish and dangerous. I'm still reeling the fact that a strong woman like I could end up in a relationship so sick and in principle / verbally abusive.my is all my f on November 08, 2018: I've been with my man for 10 long years. . We have a child together. I've been trying to understand it all this time. I was chasing my tail. The frustration, the drama. I understood that he was insecure, but I thought he would see me. See and trust me .. I tried all the angles to go through it. All my feelings were wrong. If my feelings were hurt, it was because I set what he said wrong. Or because you can not mean reacting without having a "hostess", it was my fault that my feelings were injured .. ect. He was a classical vitima. I wanted to get out of this relationship for years .. I knew he had every sign of a narcissist, but I did not know why. I did not know the signs of a narcissist. All he knew was the frustration of never being able to communicate with him. I finally kicked him. I gave him two weeks. I'm still trying to communicate my feelings and be guilty for everything. So I stumbled on this vision and my life changed dramatic. Now I'm not frustrated. He's out now .. and I think if we had finished with me still being totally minipulated, I would have moved happy, but I would always feel as if we had an unfinished business. I can not believe how I am relieved You see him for what to expect from him .. and he always follows the Narci manual. I do not show my emotions anymore. He can not push my buttons. He really tries. I told him that I used to try to reach that person person I thought I was really very behind a great wall, he always kept me in the surface of who he was, now I told him that I see it through him, and there is no one there. He, of course, said it was like that because of how I treated him. I did not hit a chills. Now I really feel sorry for him. As a wounded animal that is bleeding to death ... I can not help, and if I tried, it would certainly be bitten. But it is truly trichian that he hated himself so much that he "disappeared." In ten years I've never felt as if I see who he really was ... because there is no remaining identity. He is as empty, the soul less. This monster he created to protect himself with his identity .. and was coming after mine !! I'm so grateful that I finally got it. Now I have my control back. I can put a period and never look back. Jessie on November 7, 2018: I married my human. At the beginning I ignored all the signs. She told me it was the victim in her last 3 relationships. She told me she lied. She told me she ran. ... but in front of me it was this amazing human gentle, so I did not want to believe. And then he started, we moved to the house that she wanted with his mother, this was also quite abusive. All in our LIF3 it became happy to make it happy. And when I lose my temper, beat or cry, it was because I'm crazy, I had EMTS anger I'm not well. I went to Meds, I went to counseling, I tell myself that I was the problem. This has been for 3 years ... This year I started putting everything I could do and nothing made her happy with me. We went away for a weekend, so passionate, danced in the rain ... She left back home, had a fight while she was gone. She came home and that's it. We ended. No discussion do not speak anything. The breakup was horrible, she would be social with friends and people she barely knew, but nothing with me ... and then she left the province. She took our dogs and left. No goodbye. No mourning. Without sorrow. Nothing, You blocked me, the silent treatment, just talks when she needs some things, as if she made her exies. I was abusive, I was the problem, she is the VINTIMA ... and complete discard. I do not know how people survive. Disgusting. I married this human. I thought that person loved me. .. and it was all a liebeeat on October 28, 2018: I was with him for many years, he said That's ramos souls. But after a while I noticed that it was the one doing all EFORT. He made new friends, who were in drugs, and was very unpleasant and started to humiliate and be abusive verby, then he played me. His ex before he was beaten by him. And now I discovered that he married a rich woman.
